Goal Formulation

We always need to set definable goals, at the beginning of any project. This ascertains the scope and target audience for your campaign thus leading to accurate and elaborative targeting. A goal can be laid down by defining the customer person, who you are targeting for product or service offerings. Research the primary needs and wants of the potential customers. Explore the unique value proposition for your offerings in the marketplace. An analysis of the buying behavior of your customers also acts as a pivotal factor.

Assess the Competitive Landscape

The primary way to maximize the revenue in any business is by analyzing the competitor's strategies. Thus, you can utilize the expertise of the competitors who have been in your industry longer than you to identify the keywords targeted by them. There are chances that they have covered most keywords in the industry.

Do Not Neglect Negative Keywords

Negative keywords are the keywords that define what your ads are not supposed to appear for. This is important as it ensures you only get organic traffic on your website, as it is what drives conversion and increases the Return on Investment (ROI).
