Hi Eriol

I have a CRB coming in for a [redacted] is that your real name? I also need to verify details for it to go ahead so if you are going to the casualty thing in Friday if you can bring along your driving licence and passport that would be great I only need to check it's details nothing more.

Regards

Mx (title)

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Mx, usually pronounced /ˈmɪks/ or /ˈmʌks/ (miks or muks),<sup>[1][2]</sup> is an English language neologistic honorific that does not indicate gender. It was developed as an alternative to common gendered honorifics, such as Mr. and Ms., in the early 1980s. It is often used by nonbinary people, as well as those who do not wish to reveal or be referred to by their gender. It is a gender-neutral title that is now widely accepted by the Government of the United Kingdom and many businesses in the United Kingdom.<sup>[3]</sup> It is included in all major English dictionaries.

Two in five LGBT people (39 per cent) who identify as non-binary have experienced a hate crime

As designers, we are at the forefront of how products serve users, but also how the digital and physical world represents and reflects back at users...

...we have a responsibility to be inclusive, sensitive and understanding with what we design, and endeavour to help non-marginalised folk foster their acceptance and expose them to systems that include, rather than exclude.

Ask other people when it's safe and encouraged to do so.
Practice compassion.

Talk about issues not just with marginalised people. Get comfortable with being uncomfortable.

Question your words and assumptions. Think about why and where these come from.

For those that can go a little further...

Volunteer for or sponsor these:

A local Pride or LGBTQIA+ event or organisation

A group that supports people with disabilities/impairments

Groups and organisations that promote people of colour in technology
