Ozone- Washed Sliced Vegetable Delivery

Post procurement the produce is subjected to a stringent process of cleaning & washing. The products are cleaned based on a specified checklist. After the basic cleaning of dust particles and bacteria, the produce is transferred to the ozone cleaning unit. This aids in removing the layers of pesticides or any other layers of chemicals or wax on the surface of the produce.

Hygienically Packed Produce

The required quantities of produce are packed and sealed as per the customer's preference, preserving the freshness of the products. The packaging is customized for each product's characteristics to maintain freshness and extend the shelf life. The different types of packaging used are airtight packing, vacuum packing, and container packing. The cut type also plays a vital role in the packaging selection.
