Tips to Develop Budget-Friendly College Outfits

T-Shirts

These are the minimum essentials of any college wardrobe. These can be worn alone in summer or layered under cardigans, jackets, and long-sleeved tops in the fall and winter. A few basic tees or tank tops of varying lengths in different basic colors such as black, white, gray, and navy blue. Also, a tee in your favorite color for variety, or a graphic print tee that features a band or a cute saying is always a fun piece to have.

Tops

A girl's clothes pile is never complete without a couple of cute tops. Those trendy pieces that rotate from year to year include crop tops, plaid/flannel shirts, cami tanks, and button-down shirts.

Kurtas

The Indian formals are also a good wear to the college. They can be styled with a variety of bottoms to transform them for different occasions. They can be worn with a pair of jeans, palazzo pants, or wide-legged pants, and paired with a dupatta they radiate the perfect ethnic vibe.

Jeans

No college wardrobe essentials list would be complete without jeans. The most recommended ones have straight legs and a loose pair. Always make sure that they end right above your ankle balls and if they are longer, cuff them up to reach the length. Also, cuffed jeans look trendy. Own them in different colors, washes, and waistlines. Baggy jeans are the most comfortable present-day trend.

Pants

Cargo pants have become practically as essential as denim. They pair well with a long-sleeved tee and sneakers, or a crop top. Faux leather pants are another must-have, especially for hitting clubs. Last but not least, trouser pants are important for class presentations or an internship.

Leggings

Leggings are the most comfortable pair of bottoms and can be paired with kurta and tank tops. Buying running or workout leggings is always suggested since they last longer, lower the chance of panty lines, and can be used for working out, too.

Dresses

You can always consider skirts in your wardrobe for that combo of cute and comfortable outfits. They go well with a T-shirt, tank tops, and cropped shirts. Also, tank dresses are considered basics and can be styled in a bunch of different ways throughout the year. They are easy to layer things over such as sweaters and jackets. Further, denim and cargo skirts make for stylish yet casual options.
