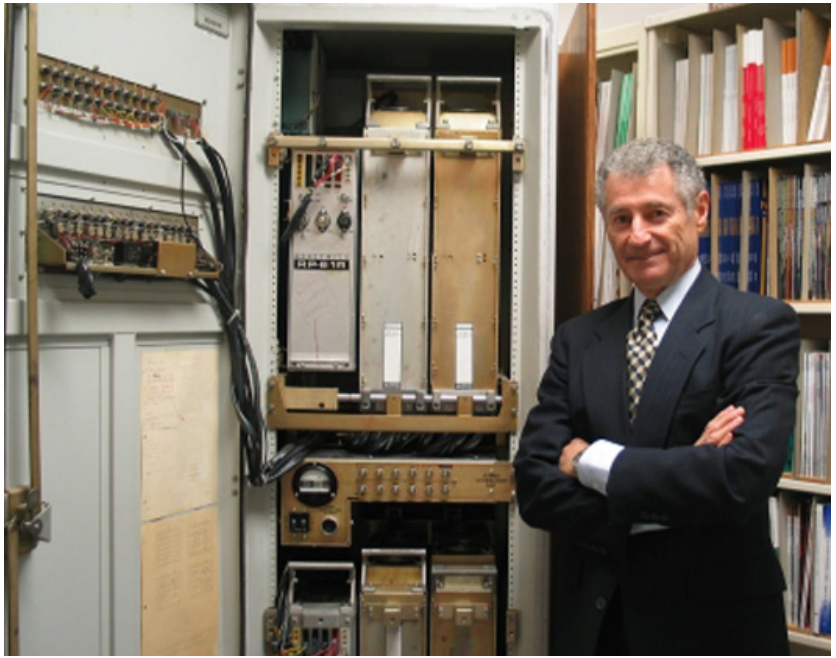
Internet Hall of Fame

On October 29, 1969, something happened in Boelter Hall that changed the world. On that day a team of computer scientists, including grad student Vinton Cerf M.S.'70, Ph.D.'72 and led by Professor Leonard Kleinrock, transmitted the first message between two computers hundreds of miles apart. It was the birth of the Internet.



“We shape our tools and our tools shape us.”

“If our environment is always changing, we need to be always learning. And to do that we need to let go of what we know.”
–Wilson Miner

“At times of change, the learners are the ones who will inherit the world, while the knowers will be beautifully prepared for a world which no longer exists. ”
–Alistair Smith

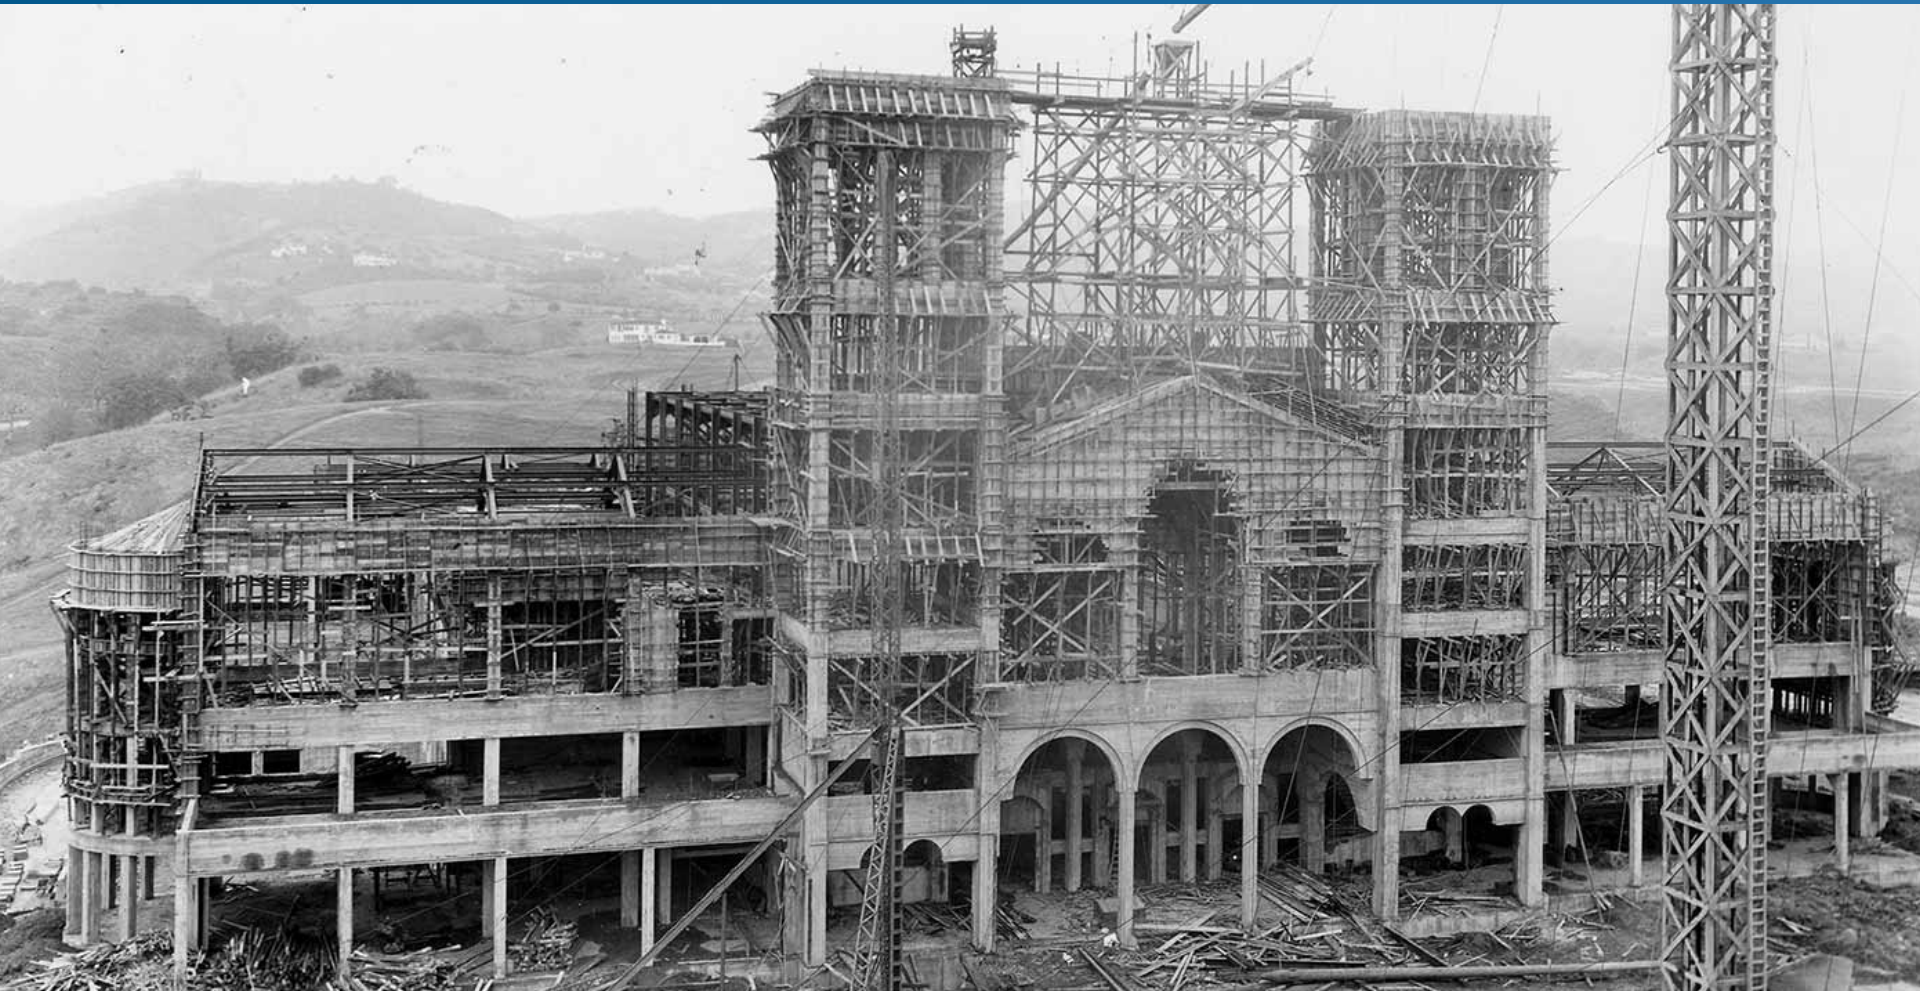
The UCLA brand encompasses the work of many different people.

What do you want to build?



What kind of an eco-system do we want to work in?

UCLA design system

Design systems are a team sport.

“Design Systems are as much social as they are technical and we should think of them as communities and not just projects.”

A design system is the story of how your organization designs and builds digital products.

Do we have a shared design language?

Typography.
Color palette.
Logo.

Flyers.
Invitations.
Newsletters.
Presentations.

Email templates.
Social media cards.
Web components.

What would a UCLA design system look like?

A collection of visual assets, accessible UI components, front-end code, and guidelines following web standards and UCLA's brand identity.

Design systems can include...

- Design principles
- Design tokens
- Brand guidelines
- UX guidelines
- UI patterns
- Page templates
- Design tools
- Coding standards
- Code repositories
- Development guides
- Writing guides

Rules

Strict — Loose

Parts

Modular — Integrated

Organization

Centralized — Federated — Distributed

What are we missing?

What happens the day after launch?

“Art direction is how to make someone feel through design.”
–Andy Clarke

What would the soul of a UCLA design system feel like?

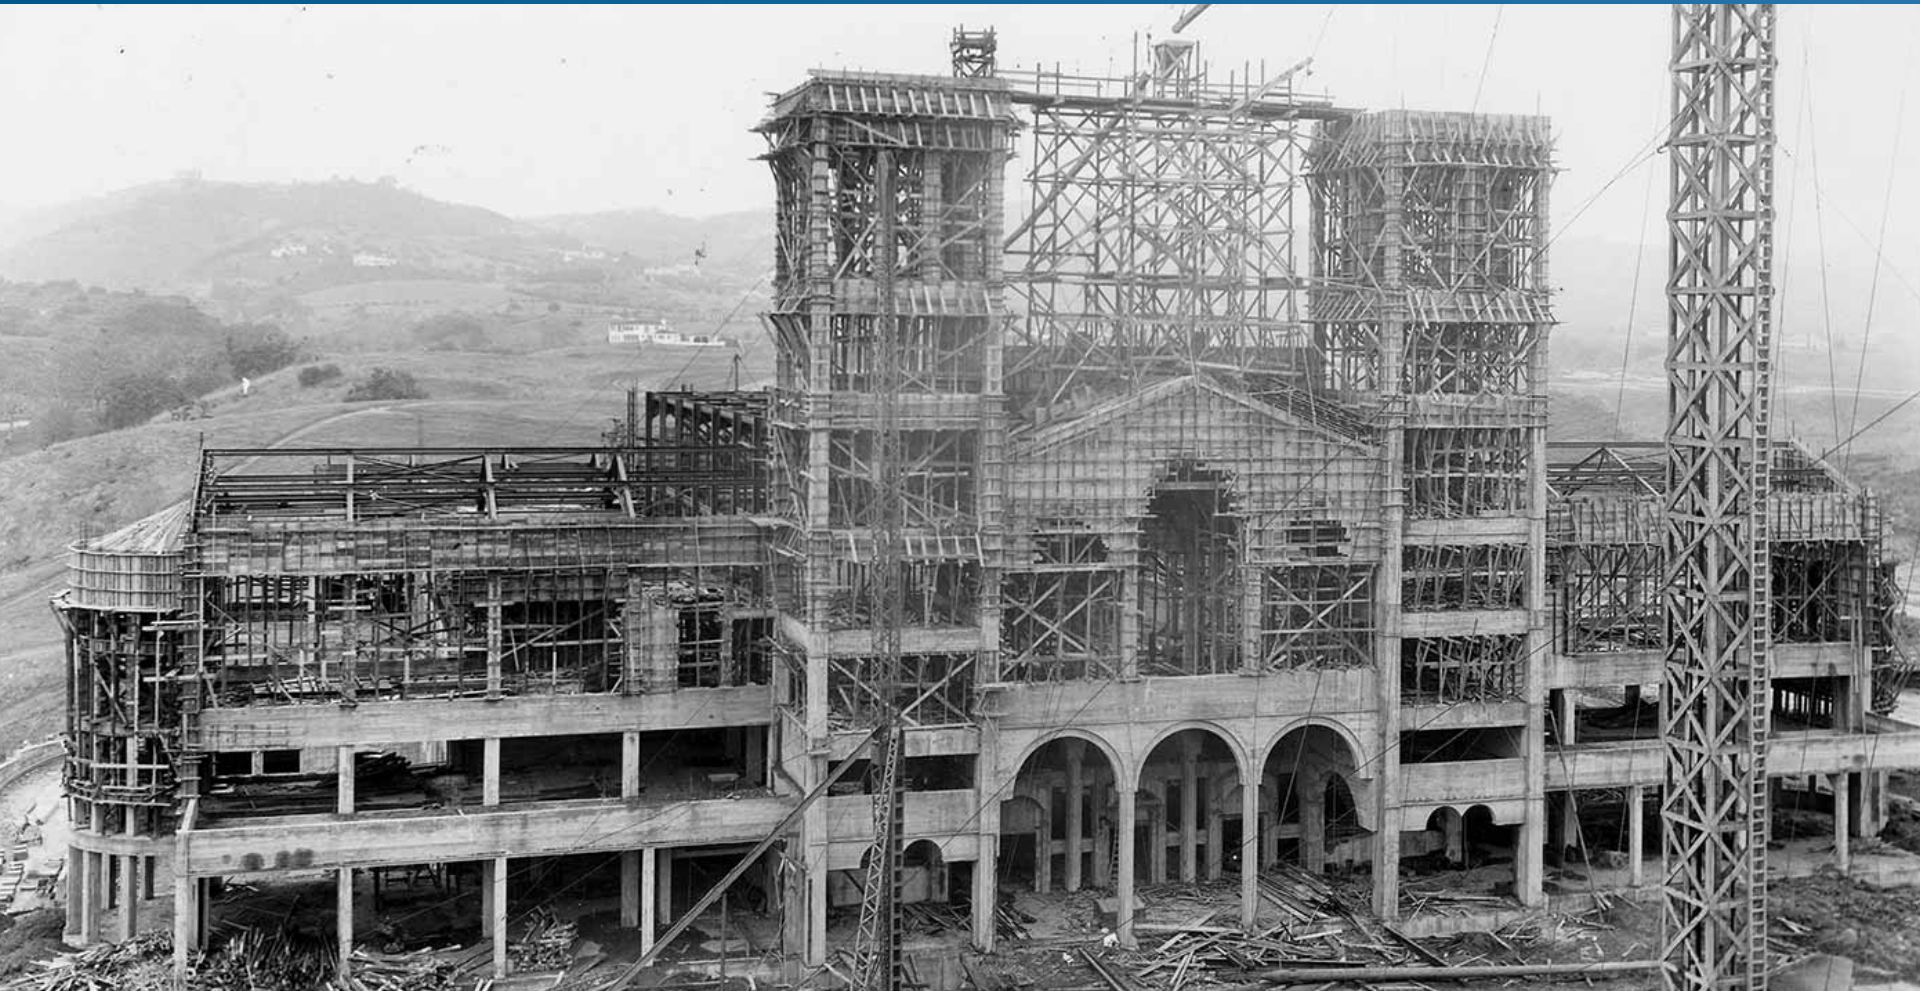
UCLA is very complex so the ideal design system is needs to flexible and bespoke.

Would art directed layouts work at UCLA?

What is UCLA design culture like? And how should our design system live?

It would be a community, a place to collaborate, to share and benefit from a campus full of knowledge and expertise.

What kinds of people? It would be diverse. And it would be inclusive.



What will we make after the design system starter blocks are built?

Thank You
